

NEAR A CLIMAX IN THE BATTLE

La Follette's Presence In Madison Gives Rise To More Hopes For Stephenson.

REPEATED CONFERENCES ARE HELD

Other Candidates Do Not Appear To Lose Hopes Of Being Ultimately The Successful Ones--- General Talk.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 18.—St. Patrick's Day was commemorated at the home of Senator La Follette by a formal state dinner at which representatives of the majority of the candidates for Senator Spooner's shoes were present. However, Davidson and Connor men were not there nor were any of the conservative republicans. The conference lasted from noon until midnight and nothing could be learned from any of those present what would be the ultimate decision as regards Lenroot.

Merely Surmise
The surprise on the streets this morning is that Senator La Follette has laid down on the ex-speaker that he withdrew from the race; that he step down until the primaries in nineteen-eight and give Stephenson the last opportunity of going to the Senate and enable La Follette to pay off his political indebtedness to the Marinette man and at the same time put an anchor to the windward against his running for President.

Not Discouraged
The Lenroot men in the city do not seem discouraged as already elected and say that it is now a mere matter of time. On the contrary, the Hatton and Esch men claim decided gains and Cooper is looked upon as a formidable candidate by his lieutenants. The fact is, no one knows how strong Cooper is. He claims the entire first district delegation, but is known that he has not them all and it is doubtful if his strength is really dangerous.

Davidson-Connor
Just how far the Davidson-Connor fight has gone is not known. Connor as chairman of the republican state central committee undoubtedly holds considerable power in his hands and while he and Davidson controlled the platform convention it is doubtful if they can command enough votes at the start to be in the lead.

Scofield Is Out
Milwaukee dispatches announce that ex-Governor Scofield is also a candidate for the nomination. What strength he expects to have and control is a question. Should by any chance the time look favorable for a conservative the choice would undoubtedly be Whitehead or Brumder of Milwaukee. The question of how many votes this so-called conservative section has is also a question. Some say thirty some say twenty but the leaders when asked merely smile and their smile is very annoying to the Captains in charge of the open candidates.

Is in Charge
That La Follette is in charge of the situation and is really doing what he can by Stephenson is evidenced by the fact that the members who are known to be favorable to him are immediately talked to by the Senator himself or some of his closest advisors. The Senator leaves tomorrow night for the west and what is to be accomplished must be done before that time.

RECOVERY OF STOCK MARKET TOO RAPID

New York 'Change Opened Today With Revival of Excitement, but Became Quieter.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, March 18.—Excitement was revived in the stock market today and there was much disturbance during the opening of dealings. Speculative sentiment agrees that the recovery has been too rapid and too rapid to be healthy. The most active stock decline was from one to four points, but prices rebounded almost immediately, going up one and one-half. The excitement abated later.

SHOPLIFTER CAUGHT BY A LITTLE GIRL

Woman from Out of City Attempted to Take Valuable Cloak from Local Store.

During the usual rush on Saturday afternoon two women, strangers in the city, entered a local drygoods store and asked to be shown into the ready-made garment department. On their pretension of having plenty of time and not being ready to buy immediately the clerk left them to wait on other customers. Thinking they were alone in the department one took a valuable cloak out of stock, donned it, and put her own cloak over it. A little girl witnessed the act and informed a clerk. The latter proved ready for the emergency and approaching the would-be shoplifter and asked what was wanted. The woman said she was looking at skirts, but when requested for the size was nonplussed. The clerk seized the opportunity and as if to take some measurements threw the woman's coat open. The woman broke down immediately and begged to be let go. She called it her first offense and her pleadings were listened to.

LADY MINSTREL CO. MOBBED IN BELOIT

Females Whom Press Agent Called Actresses Were Pelted With Eggs and Lemons.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., March 18.—Members of the Duncan Clark Lady Minstrel company were mobbed and driven out of the city Saturday evening. By the troupe's press agent the players had been styled actresses, but during the performance of the show several hundred men and boys used the women as targets for rotten eggs, decayed lemons and other articles of refuse. The acts were shortened and when the so-called burlesquers departed from the theatre they were surrounded by a crowd of three hundred hooting men and escorted to their car at the North-Western depot. Though the police threatened to arrest the rioters stones were hurled through windows of the coach and the company was hurried from the city at 10:30 o'clock.

Boy Forged Mother's Name
Arthur Skelley, eighteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Skelley of Mills street, was in Municipal court this morning to answer to the charge of larceny. It developed that on March 14 he forged his mother's name to a check for $25, cashed it at the Beloit State Bank and went to Janesville for a "time." He treated the matter as a huge joke and his seeming inability to understand the seriousness of the offense caused Judge Rosa to suspend sentence for thirty days.

Collier as Peace-Maker
At the call of Dean Collier, acting president of Beloit college, a conference with President Plantz of Lawrence university and President Hughes of Ripon college was held at Fond du Lac Saturday. Athletic relations between Lawrence and Ripon, which had been broken off for four years by President Plantz, were re-established and arrangements made for the annual triangular field meet and state oratorical contest.

Chicago, Ill., March 18.—Members of the Interstate Commerce commission assembled in Chicago today for a hearing of the famous Spokane rate case, which was given a preliminary hearing several weeks ago in the northwest. Spokane desires to have the same rates from the east as are granted to the Pacific coast cities. At present Spokane pays the rate from the seaboard to the Pacific coast, plus the local from the Pacific coast back to Spokane, more than 400 miles.

TEXAS CATTLEMEN OPEN CONVENTION

Visitors from Four Nearby States Swell Attendance to Several Thousand.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Fort Worth, Texas, March 18.—The thirty-first annual meeting of the Cattlemen's Association of Texas was called to order here this morning by President H. T. Pryor of San Antonio. Mayor W. D. Harris cordially greeted the visitors and to his address response was made by Nat. M. Washer of San Antonio. These formalities concluded the convention entered upon its regular business. The chief feature was the annual report of the executive committee, which showed that the past year had been one of more than ordinary activity for the association and its members. The remainder of the program of the opening day called for addresses by Governor Campbell, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and Senator W. A. Harris of Kansas. The convention will be in session three days and from all indications will be the most successful ever held by the association. Several thousand delegates and visitors are in attendance from all parts of Texas and from Oklahoma, Indian Territory, and parts of Kansas and Missouri. There is a fast-track show open, with hundreds of fine cattle. The stock show will continue through the entire week. Carloads of swine, sheep, horses and fine bred cattle make up the exhibition. San Antonio is putting in a strong bid for the 1908 meeting and show of the association.

CALHOUN'S MEMORY HONORED IN SOUTH

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Charleston, S. C., March 18.—The universal regard in which the memory of John C. Calhoun is held was given expression throughout South Carolina and neighboring states today by exercises commemorating the 125th anniversary of the great statesman's birth. Public schools, colleges and literary and historical societies throughout the state held special exercises in honor of the day. Calhoun was born March 18, 1772. The old home in which he lived, near Pendleton, this state, is being carefully looked after by the trustees of Calhoun college, which owes its existence largely to the fact that the great statesman's son-in-law in his will left all Calhoun plantation, a grand property of 800 acres, together with the historic homestead and fifty odd thousand dollars to the state of South Carolina to be partially endow an agricultural and industrial college in which the sons of the farmers of the state could obtain an education.

The first union of stone cutters was formed in New York in 1740 and out of this union grew the present international union. The organization now has a membership of 18,000 throughout the United States and Canada.

EVACUATION DAY IN BOSTON CELEBRATED

City in Gala Dress and Bearing Martial Air Enjoys Holiday to Honor Revolutionary Victory.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., March 18.—The usual notable ceremonies were held today commemorating the evacuation of Boston by the British. The Bay section of the city was well decorated with flags and bunting when the booming of the guns on the warships outside the navy yard and from the forts in the harbor and the ringing of bells in the city inaugurated the day's exercises. In the military parade, which was the spectacular feature of the day, were all the available men from the marine barracks and a considerable force of "jacksies" from the navy yard. The procession was reviewed by the governor, the mayor and other dignitaries. Patriotic societies observed the anniversary by special exercises in Boston, while exercises appropriate to the occasion were held in the public schools throughout the city. The celebration concludes tonight with a notable banquet at which Delphin M. Delmas, the noted California lawyer who is conducting the defense in the Harry Thaw case, will be the guest of honor and the principal speaker.

1897—Retired from public life and took up residence at Princeton, N. J.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Princeton, N. J., March 18.—It would require a bushel basket to hold the letters, telegrams and other messages of congratulation received today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cleveland on the occasion of the seventieth birthday of the ex-President. A number of the felicitous greetings were forwarded to Mr. Cleveland, who is now enjoying his annual spring pleasure trip in the south, visiting his old friend, Gen. E. P. Alexander at Georgetown, S. C. It is to these regular hunting and fishing trips that Mr. Cleveland attributes in no small measure his robust health at the age of three score and ten.

It is interesting to note that of the twenty-five men who have served as President of the United States, eight of the first twelve who filled the office lived to be 70 years of age or older, while of the thirteen who followed in the office of chief executive of the nation there were but four who lived to the age of seventy—Presidents Fillmore, Buchanan, Hayes and Cleveland. Of the first twelve Presidents John Adams lived to the age of 90, James Madison died at 85, Thomas Jefferson at 83, John Quincy Adams at 80, and Martin Van Buren and Andrew Jackson the age of 79 and 78, respectively.

Of the last thirteen Presidents none has attained the age of 80. James Buchanan, the oldest, died at the age of 77. Millard Fillmore was 74 at the age of his death and Rutherford B. Hayes passed away soon after he had reached his 70th birthday.

It is now 22 years since Mr. Cleveland first assumed the burdens of the White House. Only five other Presidents lived so long after their inaugurations, and these were the two Adamses, Jefferson, Madison, Van Buren and Fillmore. No President, inaugurated in the past half century, except Mr. Cleveland, has survived his inauguration for more than 16 years, which was the record of Gen. Grant.

New York, March 18.—By order of Mayor McClellan, the national, state and city flags were run up on the city hall staff today in honor of former President Cleveland, who is seventy years old today.

DELMAS SPRINGS SURPRISE ON JEROME IN TESTIMONY

Asks That All Of Abe Hummel's Testimony Be Admitted, Including Affidavit.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, March 18.—After fighting for an hour and a half against the introduction in the evidence of the famous affidavit drawn by Abraham H. Hummel at the request of Stanford White and with the alleged consent of Evelyn Nesbit, charging Harry K. Thaw with having cruelly beaten Miss Nesbit on several occasions during their trip through Europe in 1902, Delmas, the attorney for the defense, suddenly switched his tactics at the trial of Harry Thaw today and demanded the whole of the alleged affidavit go into the records to be read to the jury. Jerome had contemplated reading only certain portions of it, which he declared directly contradicted the testimony of young Mrs. Thaw. With the reading of the affidavit Jerome announced the people rested their case in the rebuttal. Delmas immediately offered in evidence the record of the trial of Abraham Hummel on the charge of conspiracy and proceeded to read the entire record to the jury in order that Jerome's own words—denouncing Hummel might be placed before the jury. The Hummel affidavit, specifies numerous instances in Austria, Switzerland and Paris, when Thaw is alleged to have beaten the young woman, who was traveling with him as his wife, until she swooned. Her bare skin, it declared, was bruised and cut by the lashings of Thaw's cowhide whip.

Policeman John Anthony, who served as doorman at the Tenderloin police station the night Thaw was brought in, after the tragedy, said Thaw acted irrational but acknowledged on cross-examination after he was seated in the district attorney's office, Thaw acted rationally. Policeman John Barrett said Thaw in his cell on the night of the tragedy spoke constantly, hearing little girls screaming. He acted irrationally. Officer Thomas F. Lynch, who was in charge of Thaw for two years up to June 28th, thought him irrational.

FORMER HIGH SCHOOL GIRL FOUND INSANE

Miss Nellie Fanning, a Handsome Young Woman of 23, Became Unmanageable After Church Service.

Miss Nellie Fanning, age 23 years, a graduate of the Janesville High school and a daughter of Bartley Fanning who lives about three miles east of the city, refused to return home with her people after evening service at St. Mary's church past her mental condition had not been normal but her relatives decided to humor her when she insisted upon going to service yesterday. It was finally necessary to summon an officer and City Marshal Appleby took the young woman to the county jail, where relatives remained with her all night. Through the long hours she paced the floor, praying and wailing in a religious frenzy which even drugs administered by a physician failed to quiet. This morning she was examined, pronounced insane, and committed to the asylum at Mendota, whither she was taken by Sheriff and Mrs. Fisher this noon.

A motion to set aside the service of the complaint on the Milwaukee Electric Street Car Co. in the damage action for $25,000 brought against this corporation by Miss Winifred Fifield of Janesville, was then taken up. Attorney Rosengarten, of the Milwaukee law firm of Clarke & Rosengarten, appeared in behalf of the motion and Attys. M. G. Jeffris and Charles L. Fifield argued against it.

KU KLUX CLANS
AND THEIR WORK

BRIEF RESUME OF THIS INTER-ESTING TIME IN HISTORY.

RELIC OF THE WAR PERIOD

Howard Herrick Talked of the Subject of the Dramatic Production
"The Clansman."

Howard Herrick, advance manager of "The Clansman," which appears at the Myers Theatre shortly, was in the city this morning. He is a most interesting talker and his story of the famous Ku Klux Klan that existed throughout the south during the reconstruction period is most interesting. He said in conversation:
"The presentation of Thomas Dixon's 'The Clansman' on the stage has stirred up a vast amount of interest in the Ku Klux Klan. Historians and magazine writers have been busy ransacking archives and interviewing former members of the order, and as a result it is possible for the first time to understand thoroughly who and what the Ku Klux Klan were. Foremost among the investigators is Dr. Walter L. Fleming, professor of history in West Virginia university, who has recently published the Lester-Wilson pamphlet on the Klan with an extremely valuable introduction full of new facts.

"According to Professor Fleming, the Ku Klux Klan was but one of several orders organized in the south after the war for the purpose of protecting life and property. Among the others were the White Brotherhood, the White League, the Constitutional Union Guards, the Pale Faces, and one, the Knights of the White Camel, that was larger than the Klan and covered an even wider territory.
Why then, it may be asked, the fame of the Klan and the comparative ob-scurety of the others? The answer is that the members of the Ku Klux had by far the biggest task out of them, and made history while the others did not. The black counties were not, as is thought by some, the center of greatest unrest after the Civil war. On the contrary, social chaos was worse in the mountain or hill country extending from Virginia to Mississippi, and it was there the Ku Klux Klan was founded and operated.

"In this Piedmont or mountain region the ex-Confederates were confronted with the double danger of disaffected negroes on the one hand and on the other the 'buffaloes' or Tories, supporters of the Union cause, allied with the federal and invading carpetbaggers. As the negroes and scalawags were under the favor and protection of the state and federal governments and the ex-Confederates practically were not, the latter were obliged to organize for self-defense.
The organization amounted to a secret police society which, says Professor Fleming, many of the Unionists later joined.

Who Sold Dinner?

Uh! xx! ?-?!! x!!

!?! x!! -- Cranky and ?! x!! Because !-!- x!! Don't Digest x!!

There are many people who can see nothing good in a doughnut except the hole. For them there is nothing in this world but calamity. Their greatest trouble is to have to eat three times a day. The stomach is in rebellion, and this is immediately shown in a man's face. A man to be successful must have sunshine inside. The world already has too many dyspepsia faces, that breathe disaster and gloom.

Stomach trouble is the most common cause of discontent, sour face, recklessness, disgust and lack of ambition. A bad stomach--there is the secret of many a failure. Anyone can have a good stomach, a strong stomach, a stomach that can take care of anything and everything that is put into it no matter whether it is a very bad stomach or not.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this very thing. One ingredient of these little tablets digests 3,000 grains of food, and no matter how bad your dyspepsia or indigestion, they will digest everything in your stomach, thoroughly and completely, and better-- more quickly than a good strong healthy stomach can do it. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will quickly cure loss of appetite, brash, irritation, burning sensations, nausea, heartburn, cruciations, loss of vim and energy, bad memory, and dyspepsia and indigestion in their very worst forms.

No other little tablets in the world can do so much. You should carry Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets around with you wherever you go and take them after meals. Then only will you realize what it is to enjoy a meal, and what perfect digestion means. Your white body and your mind will feel the effects; your vim will increase, you will be more satisfied with what the world does, you will think happier and be happier and your face will be one of supreme contentment. That will bring you success and then more success. Your face will bring you dollars. Try it. It will cost you just 50c for a package of these wonderful Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, at any drug store on earth.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address

"The organization was in no way reasonable as shown by its written constitution and the innocent manner of its origin. The preamble expressly says: 'We recognize our relation to the United States and recognize the supremacy of its laws.' As to its origin, it is well known that it grew out of a circle of returned Confederate soldiers, residents of Pulaski, Tennessee, who began meeting together for social purposes in the fall and winter of 1865. A committee was appointed to select a name for the little society, and they brought in the Greek word 'Kluktos' (circle), which was presently changed to Ku Klux Klan. These first Ku Klux were young, high-spirited fellows, coun-teous to a fault, but not well-meaning, and they seem to have planned a sort of Greek-letter college fraternity, burlesque in purpose and devoted to amusing but harmless pranks. They were accustomed to meet by night in a half-demolished house, standing on a lonely ridge on the outskirts of the town and surrounded by storm-wrecked, limbless trees that looked like spectres in the darkness. Fifty yards from the house a sentinel ald in the ghostly robes of the order was stationed to warn off intruders.
If a stranger, particularly a negro, approached and asked, 'Who are you?'
the answer came in sepulchral tones:
'A spirit from the other world. I was killed at Chickamauga.' Awful noises from the house, the moving about of wield lights, and the occasional sight of the mysterious white-robed order in full convulsion confirmed the ghostly impression. The members of the order, who were all negroes, in the vicinity, quit walking out at night.
The Ku Klux were the town talk.
The village paper printed frequent notices of their weird doings. The final touch to the mystery was put by a parade of the Klan through the streets in which by ingenious devices they produced the effect upon the spectators of headless horsemen with arms four to six feet long.

"From terrorizing the superstitious negroes and white trash to assuming the role of Regulators and Vigilantes was but a short step, and the Klan made the transformation imperceptibly. The need of older leaders was now felt. Gen. Nathan B. Forrest, the celebrated cavalry commander, was invited to become the Grand Wizard of the order, and accepted.
Other distinguished men, who either joined the Klan or gave it active encouragement and assistance, were
Gen. George W. Gordon of Memphis, Gen. John C. Brown of Pulaski, Capt.
John W. Morton, since secretary of state of Tennessee; Gens. John D.
Gordon, Colquitt, Anderson and Lawton of Georgia; Gen. W. J. Hardee of Alabama; Col. Joseph F. Russell and Gen. Albert Pike. A convention of delegates met in Nashville in the early summer of 1867 and drew up a written constitution, divided the territory covered by the Klan into rulerships, and placed at the head of the order, with almost autocratic power, the 'Grand Wizard of the invisible Empire.'

"The Ku Klux Klan continued its work vigorously for two years after the Nashville convention. It was strongest in Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, though in some of the other states there were chapters also.
The primary aim of the order was to enforce respect for the southern whites who had been the dominant class in the community before the Civil war. The means adopted to this end were various. Where the negroes were reduced to submission and respect by merely playing upon their superstitious fears, this was sufficient.
But sterner measures were generally necessary. The burning of property belonging to white men and other objections characters, both white and colored, were warned to quit their evil practices or leave the country under penalty of whipping to death.
Obnoxious office-holders were in some instances forced to resign.
Those who defied the orders of the Klan were fortunate if they escaped with their lives.

"The midnight forays of the Ku Klux had important results. In the first place, they quelled the activities of the Union or Black League, which the great majority of whites rightly or wrongly believe and for its purpose the wholesale massacre of the white population. Public order was restored. Political chaos continued for some time, but at least life and property were rendered safer, and the dream of northern radicals of obtaining for the negroes full political and social equality was forever shattered.

"Senator Benjamin R. Tillman, in speaking of this matter recently, said it was the Ku Klux Klan whose deeds made the South Carolina Red Shirts possible, and this paved the way for the recovery of political su-premaccy. So, too, it was in the other states. Had not the Klan made its stand for the south in the early years following the Civil war, reconstruction would have progressed unopposed, and the winning back of the state governments would have been a long and hopeless business.

"In the spring of 1869 the Grand Wizard of the Klan formally disbanded the order, when, officially at least, it went out of existence. Scattered chapters here and there lived on without recognized authority, and their ill-deeds and excesses, it is said, did much to give the Ku Klux a bad name. It became the fashion in the north to attribute every 'southern outrage to the Ku Klux Klan, even long after it had ceased to be, and in this way the order has been unjustly censured. It is a fact, however, that it was members who constituted mainly of God-fearing, law-abiding folk, the flower of southern chivalry, who felt themselves compelled to put a stop to a region of intolerable anarchy and chaos. That they did this, and did it well, is glory enough for the Ku Klux Klan. Surviving members of the order--and there are many of them in this vicinity--must feel gratified that the verdict of false historians has been reversed, and that there is at last a true understanding of the high aims for which they struggled.

GAVE TESTIMONIAL TO JOHN BEIDELMAN

Employees of the Carle Warehouse at DeForest Presented Him With
With Handsome Watch Chain.

Both of the leaf tobacco warehouses at DeForest, which have furnished steady employment to about forty hands since January 2, were closed last week. Before returning to Janesville, John Beideman, who has been in charge of the L. B. Carle & Son's establishment, was presented with a testimonial from the employees in the shape of a handsome gold watch chain.

The gift and its presentation came as a complete surprise to him. In a brief talk to the donors he expressed his high appreciation of the warm regard for him as symbolized by the gift. Warehouse No. 1, which has been operated by Roe & Britson, of Stoughton has been rented by Ole Kalland and about a dozen hands started on Thursday to assort his crop.

BILL TO DRAIN
RAILWAY STOCK

ROOSEVELT SUGGESTS ANTI- WA-TERING LEGISLATION.

TWELVE TO SIX BILLION

Such Would be the Reduction in the Amount of Paying Dividends.

(Special Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., March 18--According to the Railway Journal of Chicago, the president will recommend a law that will regulate the issue of stocks and bonds for the construction of new roads and extension and betterment of old lines. "There is nothing unfair in this if it is reasonable and its application is in the control of proper experience," says the Railway Journal. "It will not prevent men of wealth investing in roads that can pay a fair interest on the money through the issue of stock. The railways can well afford to approve and support a bill of the sort suggested. We have always felt that this sort of regulation would do away with much rate legislation."

To those who have studied in a dis-passionate manner the railway situation for years, it seems inevitable that if the government is going to regulate the income of railroads it should take a hand in regulating the issue of their securities. It has long been a favorite method of predatory wealth to issue volumes of securities based on the tangible or intangible assets of railways, thus capitalizing their future and then look to the operators of the roads and the public, the sections they traverse to furnish the money to pay dividends on the watered stock.
There is no real reason why a railway stock should appreciate ten per cent in one day as is frequently the case on the stock exchange. Only a few years ago a certain stock soared to ten times its face value in twenty-four hours. Its rapid rise indicated nothing except that two groups of capitalists were contending for possession of a certain railroad, it being understood that whoever succeeded could, by manipulation of rates and the routing of freight, increase the dividends on their present holdings.
Railroads stand apart from almost every other class of securities in that they derive their revenue entirely from the people as a whole, the same as does the government. Therefore they must expect treatment different from that of any other class of corporations, and it would seem that the national government should take some steps to prevent the watering of stock, which is inevitably followed by an attempt to fasten fixed charges upon the public service. Mr. E. H. Harriman, at present more in the public eye than any other railroad man, has apparently realized the situation and is trying to make his peace with the government and with the public. Whether this is because he has feathered his nest scientifically or not remains to be seen, but any one with half an eye can see that the day is not far distant when the general government will regulate the railroads in all particulars, whether it really owns them or not. The general government is already regulating rates and hours of service and is investigating the subject of equipment.
It can scarcely regulate the income and expenses of a road without making provisions for dividends on the capital invested. Should government ownership ever come, which is in the distant future, according to many, the water will be squeezed out of many a stock. After all, there are some good things to be said for government ownership. The roads would be operated in the interest of the people and not of Wall street speculators. Freight rates would be equitably adjusted, and wages would be steady and the hours of employees reduced and rebates and discriminations would be a thing of the past. There would be a great saving in the transportation of mails, a parcels post could be easily established and rates for the transportation of passengers and freight would be uniform throughout the country. Government ownership has proven a vast success in the matter of the postoffice department. From the transportation of a letter to the transportation of a package of freight or a person is in reality, but a short step. As far as the amount of money necessary is concerned, that is but a small factor. The railroads are now valued at approximately $12,000,000,000. It fairly appraised this would shrink to six or eight billions. It would be an easy matter to exchange this amount of United States two per cent bonds for the railroad stocks and bonds now outstanding, bearing from no interest to six, eight, or ten per cent. As a medium between the two, stands the proposition to regulate the railroads in every particular. It is evident that railway legislation has just begun.

A movement is on foot to organize an association to purchase and preserve the old Key Mansion in Georgetown. This was once occupied by the famous Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner." It is on Pennsylvania Avenue just before one reaches the old Acqueduct Bridge, en route to Fort Meyer and Arlington, and a large sign notifies those who pass by that it is "The Key Mansion." No steps have been taken to preserve this old landmark and much of the building is defaced by signs. I believe Admiral Dewey has consented to take the presidency of the association.
The property is not especially valuable aside from its historic associations and can be purchased reasonably.

At a dinner recently Senator Dewey is credited with telling a story which is not entirely new is a good one and worth repeating. "A young farmer contemplating matrimony approached his father with the question, 'When shall we be married?' 'Who ought to be the boss?' I contend I ought to be boss, being the man, while she says the women always boss the men. The old man smoked awhile reflectively, and then answered: 'Son, that is a question you will have to answer for yourself. In the barn are the two horses, the bay and the gray. Hitch them to the spring wagon and put in a hundred chickens. Then travel through the country and when you find a place where the women is boss, give her a chicken. When you find a man running the place, give him a horse. Wandering at his father's command, but accustomed to obedience, the youth set out, stopping at each farmhouse and making his inquiries as to who was the head of the family. Toward the end of the third day he hitched his team in front of a weather-beaten shack where, on a little side porch, sat a hairy man in his shirt sleeves, with his feet cocked up on the railing. 'Howdy,' said the man, expelling a stream of tobacco juice all over the porch. 'Maria, come here and get the stranger a chair.' At his words appeared a meek little woman in a sun-bonnet, evidently fresh from her labors at the wash tub, dragging a chair behind her in a spiritless manner, 'he down and make yourself at home,' he said, while to his wife, 'Git back to the tub.' 'Here is where I lose a horse,' said the young farmer to himself, but he boldly explained his mission. 'Ho, ho, laughed the man of the house. 'Maria, who's boss here?'

'Why, you be, Silas,' replied the woman, looking up for a moment from her task. 'Well, I guess there's no doubt of that,' responded the young man, surveying the frail, working woman, and the hulking, loafing man. 'Come, select your horse.' Silas went out and examined the team carefully. 'Better unhitch the bay and lead him to the barn,' he finally decided. Her curiosity getting the better of her, the wife had meanwhile approached and was surveying the team. 'Looks to me as Silas,' she said, 'like the bay

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Fair tonight, probably showers or snow, flurries Tuesday.

THE SENATORIAL QUESTION

Dispatches from Madison demonstrate that the question of a United States Senator has become a vital one and that Senator La Follette is on the ground prepared to aid his old ally, Isaac Stephenson of Marinette, as far as he is able. Just how far this aid will benefit the Marinette man is a question. Should La Follette have the same control of the situation as he had two years ago and be in earnest in the matter, Stephenson is to be the next United States Senator without a question. On the other hand if this is only a gigantic bluff on the part of La Follette, a bluff to try and pay off political obligations with the hopes of further financial aid in the future, Mr. Stephenson is a beaten man. Stephenson is one of the old wheel-horses of the republican party in northern Wisconsin. While he has fought it out on the lines laid down by La Follette for the past eight years before that time he stood in line with the men who made Wisconsin famous in the old days when the majority of a few states elected a republican president. Of the other candidates the greatest praise that can be uttered is that they are trying. Cooper, Esch, Jenkins, Lenroot, Hatten and Davidson—of the six perhaps Davidson would be the most popular selection to the state at large. He is the best known outside his own little district. Possibly the senatorial lightning will strike his rod, thus promoting Connor to the executive chair. It is a question that is bothering the most astute politicians at the state capital and the next few days will be critical ones for the candidates and their supporters.

DUTY OF CITIZENS

It is the duty of every citizen to cast a ballot at tomorrow's primaries. In the interest of good government and the selection of able men to run the city government they should take an interest in the primaries and be present to exercise their rights of franchise. The government of this city is run for the people and by the people. According to the primary law the rule of the boss is over. To thoroughly demonstrate this fact every voter in Janesville should cast his ballot tomorrow in the interests of good government. The office of Mayor is an important one. Two men are running for the nomination, both on the republican ticket. Care should be taken to select the one best fitted for the office. In order to do this each voter should appear at the polls tomorrow and cast their vote. It is important good men be selected to handle the city affairs and in order to do this the voters must give their aid and support.

NO SPLIT TICKETS

Let there be any mistaken ideas relative to the ballots to be cast tomorrow, the fact that there can be no splitting of ballots is again brought into prominence. The voter can not vote for a republican candidate for Mayor and a democratic alderman. There is no writing the name of a republican candidate for office on a democratic ticket and having the vote counted in the republican column. It is a straight voting proposition—democratic or republican.

CLEAN POLITICS

The spring campaign, which practically closes tomorrow at the primaries, has been an unusually clean campaign. With the exception of a few candidates, guided by unwise council, the throwing of mud and filth has been noticeable by its absence. It is to be hoped that the right men are selected tomorrow to handle the city affairs for two years to come and with this idea prominent each and every citizen is urged to cast their ballot for the choice they have made for the city officers, Mayor, city clerk, justice of the peace, alderman and supervisor.

The street commissioner might get busy now and inspect some of the sidewalks about the business portion of the city to see that heavy damage suits do not follow. There are several in very bad shape where the traffic is the heaviest. Traffic in this sense is used guardedly to refer to persons going to and by the Carnegie library on South Main street.

The Milwaukee Journal takes up the cause of anyone who wants them to. That is, usually. Two years ago they fought the doctors and the medical legislation in the legislature and now they are fighting the Doctors and for the legislation they fought against two years ago.

The real business of the primary law will be demonstrated tomorrow and perhaps tomorrow night some of the candidates will wish that the Racine County board that voted to repeal the primary law had been successful.

Did Mr. Jerome make a mistake in placing Abe Hummel on the stand? Time will tell. Meanwhile Evelyn will again appear on the stand in rebuttal of the testimony of the shyster lawyer who is now under a criminal indictment.

The Milwaukee daily newspapers object to the Gazette's calling them the big five. All right, gentlemen, call it off. No harm was meant and we hope you have not suffered from the remark.

Whitehead and Norcross occupy enviable positions in the present session of the legislature and Janesville can well be proud of their representatives.

Governor Deneen has visited Roosevelt and thoroughly discussed the questions of the day with him. Now wait for the great word to be sent out from Illinois.

Madison is booming ahead and building in the Capital City is being rushed to completion. Where, is Janesville all this time?

Roosevelt will meet with one railroad president at least if the rest of the Morgan crowd are afraid to go and see him.

Milwaukee and its boy Mayor are not such a success after all, despite the fact the boy Mayor is a college graduate.

This primary election is not so pleasing as it was two years ago, before it was put into practice.

Evidently the cold spring days are with us and the furnace fire can not be put out yet.

No split tickets tomorrow. Votes must be straight.

Some one will be surprised tomorrow night when the votes are counted.

The Minstrel Man is with us again.

To give my customers a little better work, at a little lower price, than they can possibly get it elsewhere.

To be satisfied with small gains and strive harder to please than my competitors.

To treat every customer justly and honestly.

The only profitable transaction is the "square deal."

No business can be permanent unless it is built on the ground of fair dealing.

We would rather be called honest than rich and we would rather be honest than be King.

Honesty, Skill, Reliability and Application form the only four cornerstones upon which can be built the superstructure of success, financially or otherwise.

I give my patients, for $5, the very same crown that others charge $10 for.

That's why, for one reason, that my business grows every day.

I endeavor to do your Painless work, and that's another reason why my business is on the increase.

HAYES FOR MAYOR, AND SMITH FOR CITY CLERK.

PLAN TALKED OF DEMMIES

Methods Discussed of Filing Out the Democratic Side of Ticket.

Prominent democrats have hatched the scheme of having the name of Dennis Hayes written in at the head of the democratic ticket, tomorrow for Mayor and Frank L. Smith in the place vacant by no nomination for city clerk. Whether this plan will meet the approval of the majority of the democratic voters who desire to have a democratic ticket in the field remains to be seen. It was rumored that Mayor Hutchinson expected re-nomination by this method, but this is denied by those closest to the Mayor, who say he has firmly denied desiring to have his name mentioned. The polls are open from six in the morning until seven at night.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY FEAST OBSERVED

With Special Service and Sermon at St. Patrick's Church—Most Successful Mission Closed.

Rev. Father McGuire, S. J., preached a splendid sermon on the patron saint of the church at St. Patrick's yesterday forenoon at 10:30 and Rev. Fr. J. J. McGinnis said the late mass. The temple of worship was decorated with beautiful flowers and there was extra music for the feast day. At 7:30 last evening the men's mission was closed, Rev. Fr. Johnson, S. J., preaching a powerful sermon to a congregation that numbered nearly 1,000. The two weeks' mission for men and women was the most successful ever held at St. Patrick's church. The sacrament of penance and holy eucharist was received by 2,000 persons. Father McGuire told the congregation that he had traveled all through the south and west and conducted missions in many large cities, including Brooklyn, N. Y., but that he had never met with a congregation that had co-operated with the grace of God so well as St. Patrick's of Janesville. Church members here had attended in greater numbers and shown their appreciation of the work in a more convincing manner than in any other city he had visited. The success of the mission was due partly to the systematic urging of people to attend, before the fathers came, and partly to the appealing quality of the sermons and lectures delivered by them. The offerings from both the men and women were very generous. Father Johnson and Father McGuire, who belong to the branch of the Jesuit order at St. Louis, left this morning for Duquesne, Pa. Later they will go to Leavenworth, Kas.

Every citizen should vote Tuesday.

TONIGHT'S MEETING OF COMMON COUNCIL

Street Assessment Committee is Expected to Report its Recommendations for Sewer Construction.

Rumor has it that tonight's meeting of the city council will be opened with a prelude not nature on the regular program. The nature of the surprise party is a profound secret. It is expected that the street assessment committee will make its report recommending sewers to be built during the approaching summer. The committee to which was referred the petition from Fifield Bros. for a special dispensation with regard to the violation of the fire ordinance, will also report. After tonight there will be two more regular meetings of the present council, one on April 1 and the other on April 15.

THE WEATHER

Facts
To The Public: W. W. Watt seeks the nomination for Mayor. In the year he has been alderman in the third ward what has he done for his ward? Nothing, but ordered one sidewalk in and changed the location of two lights. But he has drawn his five dollars for each council meeting. There are walks on South Main street, the worst in the city, that are gradually rotting away and he has done nothing toward repairing them. His work as an alderman has amounted to nothing. Is this the man to administer the finances of the city and work for its best interests?

900 CANDLES WERE AGLOW AT ST. MARY'S

Mission Closed Last Evening with Renewal of Baptismal Vows and Beautiful Illumination.

The mission at St. Mary's Catholic church which had been in progress for two weeks past and which proved successful beyond all expectations was closed yesterday. The morning services at 7:00, 8:30, and 10:30 were well attended and there was a special service at 2:00 p. m. for the children. At 3:30 Father Richard delivered a most interesting and timely talk on "Marriage and Divorce" to a congregation which packed the auditorium to the doors. The closing service at 7:30 p. m. was the occasion of a most inspiring spectacle. At this time members of the congregation renewed their baptismal vows, each one holding a lighted candle, and the beautiful effect of the illumination and ceremony may be imagined when it is stated that 900 of these tapers were provided and used. Father Richard delivered a remarkable lecture on "Perseverance" which was filled with profound thought and helpful suggestions to Catholics and non-Catholics alike. Father Richard and Father Aurelius are identified with the branch of the Passionist order at Cincinnati. They go from here to Kansas City.

Argument for Brown.
Editor Gazette. Mr. Harry Brown, who is a candidate for the office of alderman in the third ward, has been in the shoe business in Janesville for over twenty years. "He is not a young man. I do not believe that a man's age should be considered an argument for or against him. A young man is not necessarily any better because of his youth nor an old man because of his age. Mr. Brown is neither an advocate of a wide open town nor is he a reformer. He is a business man in politics—in politics for the good of the city and for his own protection as a taxpayer. His acceptance of the office will mean to him a sacrifice of valuable time. He has no private interests to protect, nor animosities to satisfy and is prepared to deal fairly with the public.

Mr. Brown having entered the race reluctantly, is now determined to win, and the people of the ward will make no mistake in choosing him to represent them in the city council.

JANESVILLE'S PART IN RELAY CARNIVAL

High School Ran Madison a Close Second—Myers Was Wisconsin's Best Runner.

Only two high school teams competed in the mile relay race in the Wisconsin university athletic carnival held at Madison Saturday evening. These were Madison and Janesville, and though the former won it was only by less than a second. Roger Cunningham, pitted against the star of the Capital City four, was beaten by half a lap but Will Tiernin and Fred Jensen closed up a portion of the distance and Stewart Richards ran his competitor an even race. The showing made is very encouraging and the prospects of a good outdoor track team for the local school are very bright. As soon as weather permits practice and training will begin and all material should be in good condition for the state interscholastic meet to be held at Camp Randall, Madison, May 25.

Myers Versus Merriam.
In the same meet of Saturday the Wisconsin and Chicago university relay teams ran and the Midway athletes played horse with the badger men. The last quarter was run by the speedy Merriam and Harold Myers of this city. Myers gained much on his man but was unable to redeem the failure of the other cardinal sprinters and victory went to the maroons.

FLOOD DANGER IS NEARLY OVER IN OHIO

LOSSES IN CINCINNATI INCREASED BY THE MUD.

RELIEF FOR SUFFERERS

City Will Issue Bonds—River at a Stand at Portsmouth—Ice Gorges, Threaten Pittsburgh.

Cincinnati, March 18.—With a stage of 61 feet at five o'clock Sunday afternoon it was believed that the crest of the big Ohio flood was not far away. Forecaster Bassler placed the probable crest at not less than 63 feet, but his estimates anticipated its arrival some time Monday afternoon.

The river, however, has been running out very fast and the crest was reported at Huntington, W. Va., Sunday afternoon.

Losses cannot be given, although it is asserted with some reason that the damage may far exceed that in the January flood because of the unusually large amount of mud carried by the river at this time. In January there was little of this and many submerged factories lost less than had been at first estimated. The present flood, however, has come from an unprecedented heavy rains on a soft soil, the result being an excessive amount of mud which has settled on all that it covered, so that the loss will go far in excess of a winter flood.

Suffering is less. The suffering, on the other hand, has been somewhat lessened by the milder weather, although many thousands have been driven from their homes.

The Cincinnati administration has asked for authority to issue bonds to the extent of $150,000 for the relief of flood sufferers, and a much larger sum will be required.

The city suffered a loss of about $150,000 early in the day by the collapsing of the Eighth street viaduct over the railroads of the Mill Creek section of the city. Three fifty-foot spans of this viaduct went down into the flood but the high water is not believed to have been the sole cause of the disaster.

At a Stand at Portsmouth.

Portsmouth, O., March 18.—At nightfall Sunday the Ohio was at a stand here, lacking but three inches of reaching the January stage of 61 feet, with over one-third of the city submerged. Thousands of people put in the day boat riding through the principal streets. The Ohio is certain to recede rapidly and factories and business houses hope to resume Tuesday. There have been no fatalities reported and little or no actual suffering. The railroads have been the chief sufferers and dozens of flood-bound passengers are quartered at local hotels.

Situation at Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 18.—With 80 miles of ice in the Allegheny river above Parker, Pa., and a drizzling rain throughout western Pennsylvania Sunday night, local rivermen are looking forward to another flood stage in this city. Although the Monongahela and Ohio rivers are slowly falling, the Allegheny river is stationary. Preparations are being made here to prevent any serious damage when the ice gorge arrives.

By special permission, a majority of the mills and manufacturing plants which were closed for three days by the recent high water were in operation Sunday. The plants will be operated "double time" in an effort to make up the time lost.

Monday hundreds of business houses in the downtown district will resume. The work of cleaning the debris from the interiors of these buildings was completed Sunday. Train service has been restored.

Bad Fire Started by Lime.

New Martinsville, W. Va., March 18.—The plant of the New Martinsville Glass company and several adjoining buildings were destroyed by fire Sunday night, causing a loss of $125,000. On account of the flood the firemen were handicapped and for several hours a large section of the city was threatened. It is believed unslacked lime in the glass works absorbed water and started the fire.

Four trainmen were seriously injured and narrowly escaped drowning Sunday when an acre of ground, weakened by the flood, slipped from under the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad tracks at Fallston and caused a caboose to plunge over a 40-foot embankment into the river.

Desolation at Wheeling.

Wheeling, W. Va., March 18.—The Ohio river is rapidly receding and this city is a scene of desolation, fire and death. The fire losses aggregate nearly $400,000 while the flood damage amounts to $3,000,000. Two more bodies of the 18 who lost their lives in the Warlick pottery fire were found Sunday.

There is much suffering, especially among the foreigners and a relief movement has resulted in the raising of over $3,000.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 18.—Miss Grace Parish, 27 years old, committed suicide at the home of her parents Saturday during their absence by inhaling illuminating gas. Her father is a lumber dealer of Moorehead, Wis., who recently brought his family to this city for the winter. The suicide is attributed to worry resulting from ill health.

BISHOP O'GORMAN AT VATICAN.

Received by the Pope, Who Praises Archbishop Ireland Warmly.

Rome, March 18.—Pope Pius Sunday received in private audience Rt. Rev. Thomas O'Gorman, bishop of Sioux Falls, S. D. During the conversation Pope Pius said that Archbishop Ireland's discourse last December on "Church and State in France" was a strong presentation of the Franco-Vatican conflict. "Although I know it caused some displeasure," his holiness said, "Archbishop Ireland was correct as to the remote causes of the conflict when he said that the French clergy and leading Catholics failed by not following the advice of my illustrious predecessor."

The pope also spoke of the church in the Philippine islands and compared the attitude of the United States there with that of France, saying that the action of the United States was the way governments should settle mixed political and religious questions.

His holiness asked Mgr. O'Gorman about President Roosevelt and expressed pleasure to hear that he was satisfied with the solution of the Philippine question. He also requested Mgr. O'Gorman to present his regards to President Roosevelt.

The bishop informed Pope Pius that Mrs. Douglas Robinson of New York, sister of President Roosevelt, would arrive in Rome during Holy week, and requested his holiness to receive her. The pontiff answered: "Naturally, I shall be delighted. All doors shall be open to her. You must accompany her."

Loeb Denies Story About President's Conference with Densen.

Washington, March 18.—Secretary Loeb Sunday night denied published statements that the White House conference Saturday, in which Gov. Charles S. Densen and Attorney General Stead of Illinois participated, was for the purpose of promoting the candidacy of Secretary Taft for the presidency. The story originated, it is said, from the fact that Secretary Taft and his brother, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, called at the executive office while the president was in conference with the Illinois officials and were introduced to the president's visitors.

President Charles S. Meilen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad will call on the president Tuesday afternoon, and it is still the belief in official circles that the other three railroad presidents, with whom J. Pierpont Morgan requested the president to discuss the railroad situation, will come to Washington this week.

TOURIST IN BAD PLIGHT.

Two Days and Two Nights on Rock on Catalina Island.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 18.—Imprisoned for two days and two nights on a narrow ledge of crumbling rock on Catalina island and unable to communicate his danger to boating parties almost within sound of his voice, E. L. Sand, a tourist from Ardsley-on-the-Hudson, New York, was rescued Sunday by a party of fishermen in a condition approaching collapse.

Climbing down the face of the cliff to bathe at the mouth of an unfrequented canyon, Sand found himself unable to retrace his steps because of the crumbling character of the rock above. During the hours of daylight boating parties were almost constantly in sight, but his predicament was not observed.

OHIO MAN DENOUNCES TALES OF HIS PRANKS AS UNJUST.

Fellow Student at Wooster University Declares His Life There Was Praiseworthy.

New York, March 18.—Harry K. Thaw spent a quiet Sunday in the Tombs. In the afternoon Lawyer Dan O'Reilly visited him and helped him prepare in duplicate a statement sent from Llewellyn Gilliland, of Van Wert, O., in which the latter denounces as an injustice the stories which he says were sent out last summer from Wooster, O., where Thaw and he were schoolmates at the Wooster university.

As Mr. O'Reilly was leaving the Tombs he gave copies of the statement sent out by Gilliland, who signed a note to the effect that the interview was authentic.

Mr. Gilliland says: "The college escapades of a man whose life is regarded as a success are looked upon by the world as good jokes; let that same man afterward fall from grace and those same pranks are regarded as crimes, and thus it is that the escapades of Harry Thaw, who is now on trial in New York city for the slaying of Stanford White last summer on the roof of the noted architect's most famous structure, are being depicted as criminal and that Thaw's career as such was begun while a lad in knee trousers in his early college days at Wooster, O."

Mr. Gilliland then, at considerable length, reviews Thaw's school life, pointing out that Thaw has been credited with many pranks in which he never participated, and that as a matter of fact the prisoner's life at Wooster was in every way praiseworthy.

The Herald added: "This man informed a Herald reporter that when Mr. Rockefeller was conferring with his son at Lakewood, N. J., a fortnight ago, the meeting was on the subject of Mr. Rockefeller's will, which document the oil king was then completing with the aid of his son and his lawyers. It was said that this document will astonish the world when it is made public. It will, it is declared, donate no less than $250,000,000 for charitable and educational purposes, and it will be so bestowed that the benefit therefrom will almost be perpetual."

Do You Like Honest, Square Dealing?

Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicines are put out under the belief that publicity is the best possible guaranty of merit, and that the most intelligent people generally want to know what they take into their stomachs, whether it be as food, drink or medicine. Although it was a bold step to take, and quite out of the usual practice of makers of proprietary medicines, yet Dr. Pierce, some time ago, decided to publish broadcast and on all his bottle-wrappers all the ingredients entering into the composition, or make-up, of his celebrated family medicines. A square deal is therefore assured every one using his medicines, for one knows exactly what he or she is paying for when purchasing them, since every ingredient is published in plain English on the bottle-wrappers and the correctness of the same attested under solemn oath. These several ingredients are selected from among the very best known to medical science for the cure of the various diseases for which these medicines are recommended.

The most eminent and leading medical teachers and writers of all the several schools of practice have endorsed each of the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines in the strongest possible terms. The makers of Dr. Pierce's medicines believe that intelligent people do not wish to open their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulp down whatever is presented to them, either in the way of food, drink or medicine, without knowing something of the properties and harmless character of the agents employed. They believe that health is too sacred a heritage to be experimented with, and that people should not take medicines of the kind which are sold in the name of "Dr. Pierce's" without knowing exactly what they are taking when using his medicines.

What Do They Cure? This question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription." The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alternative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator, and acts especially favorably in a curative and healing way upon all the mucous lining surfaces as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large percent of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchus, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as mucous diarrhea), bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections, it is often successful in effecting cures.

The "Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of diseases only—those peculiar weaknesses, derangements and irregularities incident to women. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and strengthening medicine. For weak, worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and is held as confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

CHAPTER VII.

Bygones.

A telegram had been thrust under my door—"I must see you. Don't fail to stop off here on your way back. Answer: Carliotta."

Again she was at the station in her phaeton. Her first look, long before I was near enough for speech, showed me how her mood had changed; but she waited until we were clear of the town. "Forgive me," she then said in the abrupt, direct manner which was the expression of her greatest charm, her absolute honesty. "I've got the meanest temper in the world, but it don't last, and as soon as you were gone I was ashamed of myself."

"I don't understand why you are making these apologies," said I, "and I don't understand why you were angry."

"That's what it means to be a man," she replied. "Your letter about your mother made me furious. You hadn't ever urged me to hurry up the wedding on your own account. And your letter made me feel as if, while you personally didn't care whether we ever married or not, still for your mother's sake, you were willing to sacrifice yourself."

"Let me see your letter," said I.

"I tore it into a thousand pieces," said she. "But I don't mean that you really wrote just that. You didn't. You made me jealous of your mother, and my temper got hold of me, and then I read the meanest kind of things into and under, and all round every word. And I'm sorry."

"I could find nothing to say," I said. "I was slipping from me. I watched it, sick at heart, yet, on the other hand, I neither tried nor wished to detain it. Though I could easily have made a renewal of our engagement impossible. I have no explanation for this conflict of emotions and motives."

"Don't make it so hard for me," she went on. "I never before in my life told anybody I was sorry for anything, and I thought I never would. But I am sorry, and we'll have the wedding the first day of August."

"Still I found nothing to say," I said. "I was painfully obvious that, true to her training, she had not given, and was not giving a thought to the state of my mind and feelings. What she wished, that she would do—the rest did not interest her."

"Are you satisfied, my lord?" she asked.

It Was from Boston, from Betty.

demanded. "Have I humbled myself sufficiently?"

"You haven't humbled yourself at all," said I. "You have only humbled me."

She did not pause on my remark long enough to see what it meant. "Now that it's all settled," she said, "I don't mind telling you that I began to make my preparations to be married on the first of August—when, do you think?"

"When?" I said.

"The very day I got your nasty letter, putting me second to your mother." And she laughed, and was still laughing, when she added: "So, you see, I was determined to marry you."

"I do," said I, dryly. "I suppose I ought to feel flattered."

"No, you oughtn't," she retorted. "I simply made up my mind to marry you. I got that from father. But I've got mother's disposition, too—and that makes me far too good for such a cold, unfeeling, ambitious person as you."

"Don't you think you're rather rash to confess so frankly—when I could still escape?"

"Not at all," was her confident answer. "I know you, and so I know nothing could make you break your word."

"There's some truth in that"—and I thought that I do not deceive myself in thinking I was honest there. "More truth, perhaps, than you guess."

She looked, shrewdly, at me—and she laughed, and struck the ground, "Nobody's ever so blind as he lets others think. It's funny, isn't it? There are things in your mind that you'd never tell me, and things in my mind that I'd never tell you. And each of us guesses most of them, without ever letting on."

She laughed, and struck the ground smartly so that he leaped into a gait at which conversation was impossible.

When we resumed, the subject was the details of our wedding.

At home again, I found my mother too ill to leave her bed. She had been ill before—many times when she wouldn't confess it, several times when she was forced to admit it, but never before so ill that she could not dress and come down stairs. "I shall be up to-morrow," she assured me, and I almost believed her. She drew a letter from under her pillow. "This came while you were away," she went on. "I kept it here, because, a look of shame flitted across her face, and then her eyes were steady and proud again—'Why should I be ashamed of it? I had the impulse to destroy the letter, and I'm not sure but that I'm failing in my duty.'"

"I took it—yes, it was from Boston, from Betty. I opened it and fortunately had nerved myself against showing myself to my mother. There was neither beginning nor end, just a single sentence:

"From the bottom of my broken heart I am thankful that I have been spared the horror of discovering I had bound myself for life to a coward."

The shot went straight to the center of the target. But—There lay my mother—did she not have the right to determine my destiny—she who had given me my life and her own? I tore up Betty's letter, and I looked at mother and said: "There's nothing in that to make me waver—or regret. It was the only lie I ever told her. I told it well, thank God, for she was convinced, and the look in her face repaid me a thousandfold. It repays me once more as I write."

Carliotta and I were married at her bedside, and she lived only until the next day but one. When the doctor told me of the long concealed mortal disease that was the cause of her going, he ended with: "And Mr. Sawyer, it passes belief that she managed to keep alive for five years. I can't understand it." But I understood. She simply refused to go until she felt that her mission was accomplished.

"We must never forget her," said Carliotta, trying to console me by grieving with me.

I did not answer—how could I explain? Never forget her! On the contrary, I knew that I must forget, and that I must work and grow and so heal the wound and cover its scar. I lost not a day in beginning.

To those few succeeding months I owe the power I have had all these years to concentrate my mind upon whatever I will to think about; for in those months I fought the fight I dared not lose—fought it and won. Let those who have never loved talk of remembering the dead.

I turned away from her grave with the resolve that my first act of power would be to stamp out Dominick. But for him she would not have gone for many a year. It was his persecutions that involved us in the miseries which wasted her and made her fall a victim to the mortal disease. It was his malignity that poisoned her last years, which, but for him, would have been happy.

As my plans for ousting Dominick took shape, I saw clearly that, if he were to be overthrown at once, I must use part of the existing control of the machine of the party—it would take several years, at least three, to build up an entirely new control. To work quickly, I must use Croffut, Dunkirk's colleague in the senate. And Croffut was the creature of Dominick.

Early in September Woodruff came to me, at Fredonia, his manner jubilant. "I can get Dominick," he exclaimed. "He is furious against Dunkirk because he's just discovered that Dunkirk cheated him out of $300,000 out of that perpetual street railway franchise last winter."

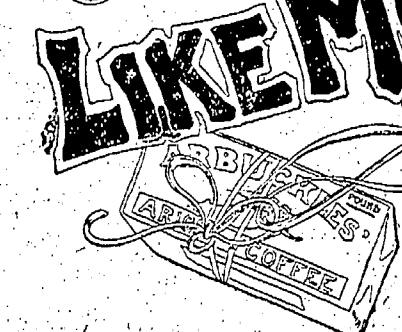

"But we don't want Dominick," said I.

My face must have reflected my mind, for Woodruff merely replied: "Oh, very well. Of course that alters the case."

"We must get Croffut without him," I went on.

"There's some truth in that"—and I

Jews of Podihilo Slain and the Town Totally Destroyed.

"Terrible massacre since last Thursday. Town totally destroyed. All the Jewish population are ruined and houses pillaged. We ask help—Marsch Getzel, Elias Solomon, Shige Sternberg."

The names signed to the cablegram are said to be those of leading merchants of Podihilo. It is a place of about 6,000 inhabitants, 4,000 of whom are Jews. Podihilo is only about 30 miles from Kishinev, which is in Bessarabia, across the Russian frontier.

A PLAIN STATEMENT

In seeking the approbation of the voters of the city, at Tuesday's Primaries, in my candidacy for the nomination for Mayor, I desire to state that I have allied myself with no clique and represent no interests but those of good government and a careful and economical administration of city affairs.

I present myself to the voters on a business basis and promise, if nominated and elected, to so administer the ordinances of the city that its best interests shall be carefully guarded.

I have made no promises and am free from all entanglements that might detract from serving the city to the best of my ability.

Trusting to meet with your approbation at the Primaries, I am Very truly,

STEWART B. HEDDLES
